

Pictures Without Words Leaves half the story untold

Beth Lord
Write Heart Memories

Tell Your Story

Hello Everyone,

I hope you are adjusting to the fall season. So amazing and quick summer has gone. How many pictures have we taken to remember our memories and be energized but what we did and how we enjoyed the season? But years from now, we won't remember the stories that went with the pictures.

I thought I'd reference some stories we've captured, so you know your stories are just as important.

~ Travel to Villa Picalo and find a place that restores what you have forgotten.

What you have forgotten is yourself.

You have been too busy to notice the wonder of you.

And your eternal youth.

Reconnect with this sweetness of being in the moment and loving life.

Come rest your tired old bones and sit for awhile.

La Dolce Vita a Villa Picalo

Living The Sweet Life At Villa Picalo

Beth Lord

Juliette B.
The Ongoing Story

Laughter. I like laughter.

I was born on Thursday, May 14, 1936. This was a long time ago. Growing up where I grew up was fine. I didn't know any different and because I didn't know any different it was fine. We never lacked for anything and we knew our neighbors. I live in the same place as I did when I was a child. I love the countryside then and I love it now. Some of my favorite sights and sounds can be found in:

The Woods.

The Fields. ... Read More

Amy @ Juliette

Just record your voice, thoughts, and stories or someone else's voice, thoughts and stories and send the audio folder to Beth who will easily do the rest.

<https://www.bethlord.com/products-services/>

And if you don't know where to begin? Beth has taken the anguish out of writing by creating themes for your story book focus so you can start now.

<https://www.bethlord.com/events-flyers/>

follow on Twitter | follow on Facebook

Beth Lord
Write Heart Memories

Write Heart Memories – Seattle, WA.